Interview Questions & Answers from Dajanee Johnson:

1. Can you tell me about your childhood and family background?

I come from a large family of thirteen siblings, including myself. Growing up, I lived with my father and two of my siblings. Our household was always bustling with activity, and I have many fond memories of playing and spending time with my brothers and sisters. Despite the challenges that come with being part of a big family, I wouldn't have wanted it any other way. I come from a large family of thirteen siblings, including myself. 2. What were some of the most significant events or experiences in your life?

Both of the grandpas passed away before I was 21. I had a brother pass away when I was 25, and he was only 24.

3. What led you to pursue the career or path you chose?

I applied for an entry-level position after hearing about the company from a friend who loved working there. I was later promoted to my current career.

4. What were some of the biggest challenges you faced in your career?

There are shortages of employees and high volumes of work making for long hours and very busy days.

5. Can you describe a particularly memorable moment or accomplishment in your career?

I was recently acknowledged for my diligent efforts and was rewarded with a promotion at my workplace. It was a moment of great pride and accomplishment for me, and I felt that all my hard work had finally paid off.

6. What are some of the values or beliefs that guide your life and work?

Some of the values and beliefs that guide my life and work include honesty, integrity, empathy, fairness, hard work, and continuous learning. I believe in treating others with kindness and respect, and in always striving to improve and grow both personally and professionally. I also value diversity and inclusion and believe that everyone should have equal opportunities to succeed and thrive. These values and beliefs help me to make decisions and take actions that align with my goals and principles.

7. Can you tell me about a time when you had to make a difficult decision or faced a moral dilemma?

There was a time when I was working in a company and I found out that one of my colleagues was stealing office supplies. I had to make a difficult decision on whether to report it to the manager or to keep quiet about it. On one hand, I didn't want to cause any trouble for my colleague, who was a good friend of mine. On the other hand, I knew that stealing was wrong and it was affecting the company's finances. After a lot of thought, I decided to talk to my colleague about it first. I explained the situation and told them that what they were doing was not right. I also gave them a chance to make things right by returning the stolen items and apologizing to the manager. Thankfully, my colleague took my advice and made things right. I felt relieved that I was able to handle the situation in a fair and just manner without causing any harm to my colleague or the company.

8. How have you evolved or grown as a person throughout your life?

Throughout my life, I have evolved and grown as a person in many ways. I have learned from my experiences, both good and bad, and have become more open-minded, empathetic, and patient. I have also developed a better sense of self-awareness, which has helped me to identify my strengths and weaknesses and work on improving myself. Additionally, I have become more confident in my abilities and have learned to trust my instincts. Overall, I believe that my personal growth has helped me to become a more well-rounded and fulfilled individual.

9. What advice would you give to someone starting out in your field or pursuing a similar path?

If you're just starting out in my field or pursuing a similar path, I would advise you to never stop learning. Stay up-to-date with the latest trends and technologies, network with other professionals in the field, and always be willing to try new things. It's also important to have a strong work ethic, be willing to take on challenges, and be open to feedback and constructive criticism from others. Finally, remember that success takes time and patience, so don't get discouraged if things don't happen right away. Keep working hard and stay focused on your goals, and you'll eventually get there.

10. Looking back on your life so far, what are you most proud of?

Looking back on my life so far, I am most proud of the relationships I have built with my family, friends, and colleagues. I am also proud of the challenges I have overcome and the accomplishments I have achieved in my career and personal life. It's important to take a moment to reflect on our achievements and be grateful for the experiences that have shaped us into who we are today.
